STRATEGIES TO PLAN AND PREPARE FOR AN OUTBREAK

Designate a space for people who may be sick.
Develop a cleaning plan for these rooms daily.

Consider the needs of older adults, persons with disabilities, or other individuals with access and functional needs.

Connect to community-wide planning.

Promote handwashing, social distancing from those who are ill, staying home if you are sick and covering your mouth when you cough.

Stay informed about local COVID-19 activity from public health officials.

Establish ongoing communication with your health department to facilitate access to relevant information.

Plan for staff absences and implement flexible attendance and sick-leave policies if possible.

Distribute health messages and materials to staff, volunteers and the community.
